

Animals in the City

It's easy to see animals in the zoo. But if you look around in the city, animals are everywhere!

Pigeons are everywhere in the city, picking up food on the streets.

Raccoons live in the city too. Sometimes they look for food in the trash.

This moose walked all the way from the forest into someone's front yard!

This swan is crossing the street to get back to the lake.

In some cities, horses help the police keep people safe.

In other cities, elephants give people rides on the streets.

There are lots of animals in the city.
What animal will you see next?

The Mustard Seed Books project uses an open-source, Wikipedia-type strategy, leveraging public expertise to create and refine a set of high-quality books that support early reading development. All of the books and pictures are covered by the Creative Commons License (<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/3.0/>) and are free to print, distribute, and modify for personal or educational use. The books are available at www.mustardseedbooks.org. New titles appear on a regular basis. If you have any ideas for books or would like to leave us any feedback, contact rick@mustardseedbooks.org .

Photos for these books come primarily from Flickr (www.flickr.com) and the Morgue File (www.morguefile.com). Both sites are great resources for high-quality publicly accessible photos and for aspiring photographers looking to share their work. All photographs are covered by the Creative Commons License (<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/3.0/>).

Text credits: Elizabeth Kim

Photo credits: Cover: Fernando de Sousa; page 1: “quiver”; page 2: Sarah Cartwright; page 3: Kara Allyson; page 4: “bolandrotor”; page 5: Stewart Butterfield; page 6: Szymon Kochanski; page 7: “Travis S”; page 8: Victoria Bernal, Nick Grosoli, David Friel, Mary Osterburg, “xdianicx,” Mary Ann Enriquez