

How I Like My Rain

Author: Salil Chaturvedi

Illustrator: Garima Gupta

Level 3

Then is how I like my rain
When the world comes to a stop

When water tells insistent tales
And it's tough for you to talk

An illustration showing a man and a woman peeking from behind a blue curtain. The man, wearing glasses and a blue cap, is looking out. The woman, with long dark hair and a green bracelet, is also looking out. The background is a bright, sunlit room with sunlight filtering through, creating a pattern of light and shadow on the wall.

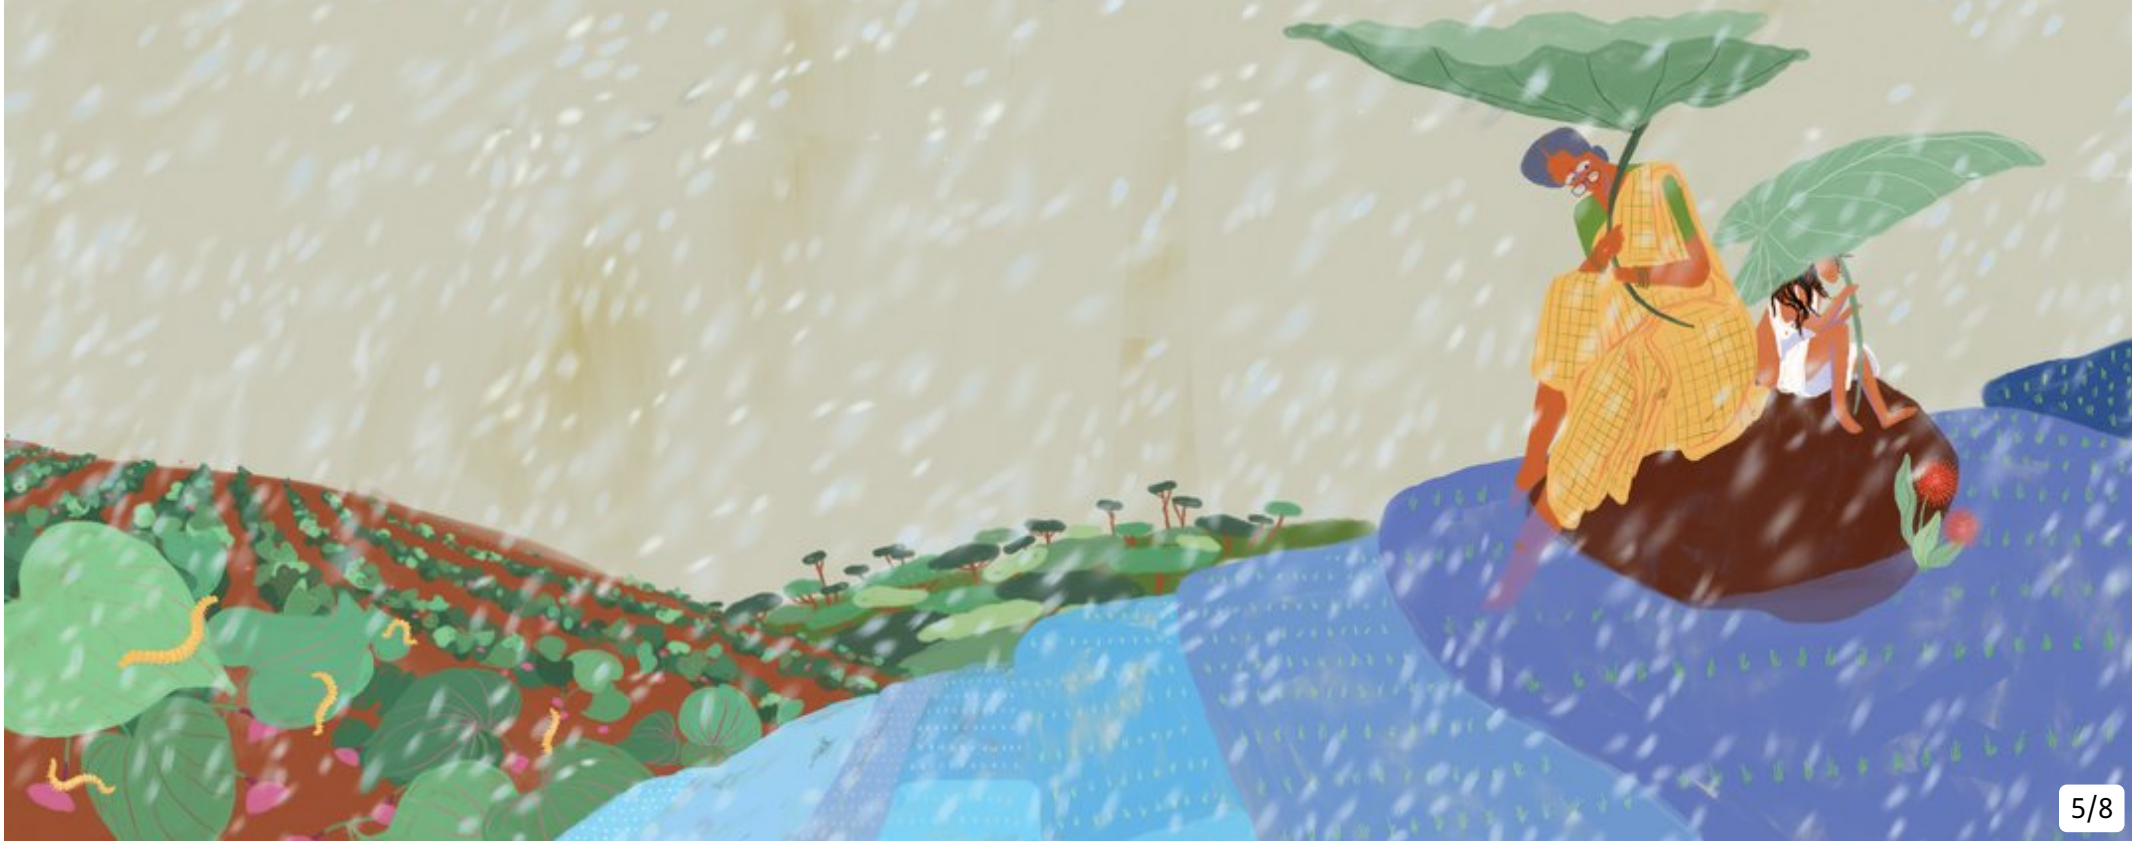

When strings of silver streaming down
Sting my skin so slight

When all day long the frogs go on
And take no heed of night

When yam is wild and everywhere
And here and there the lilies stare

When water runs and kisses seeds
And the earth belongs to millipedes

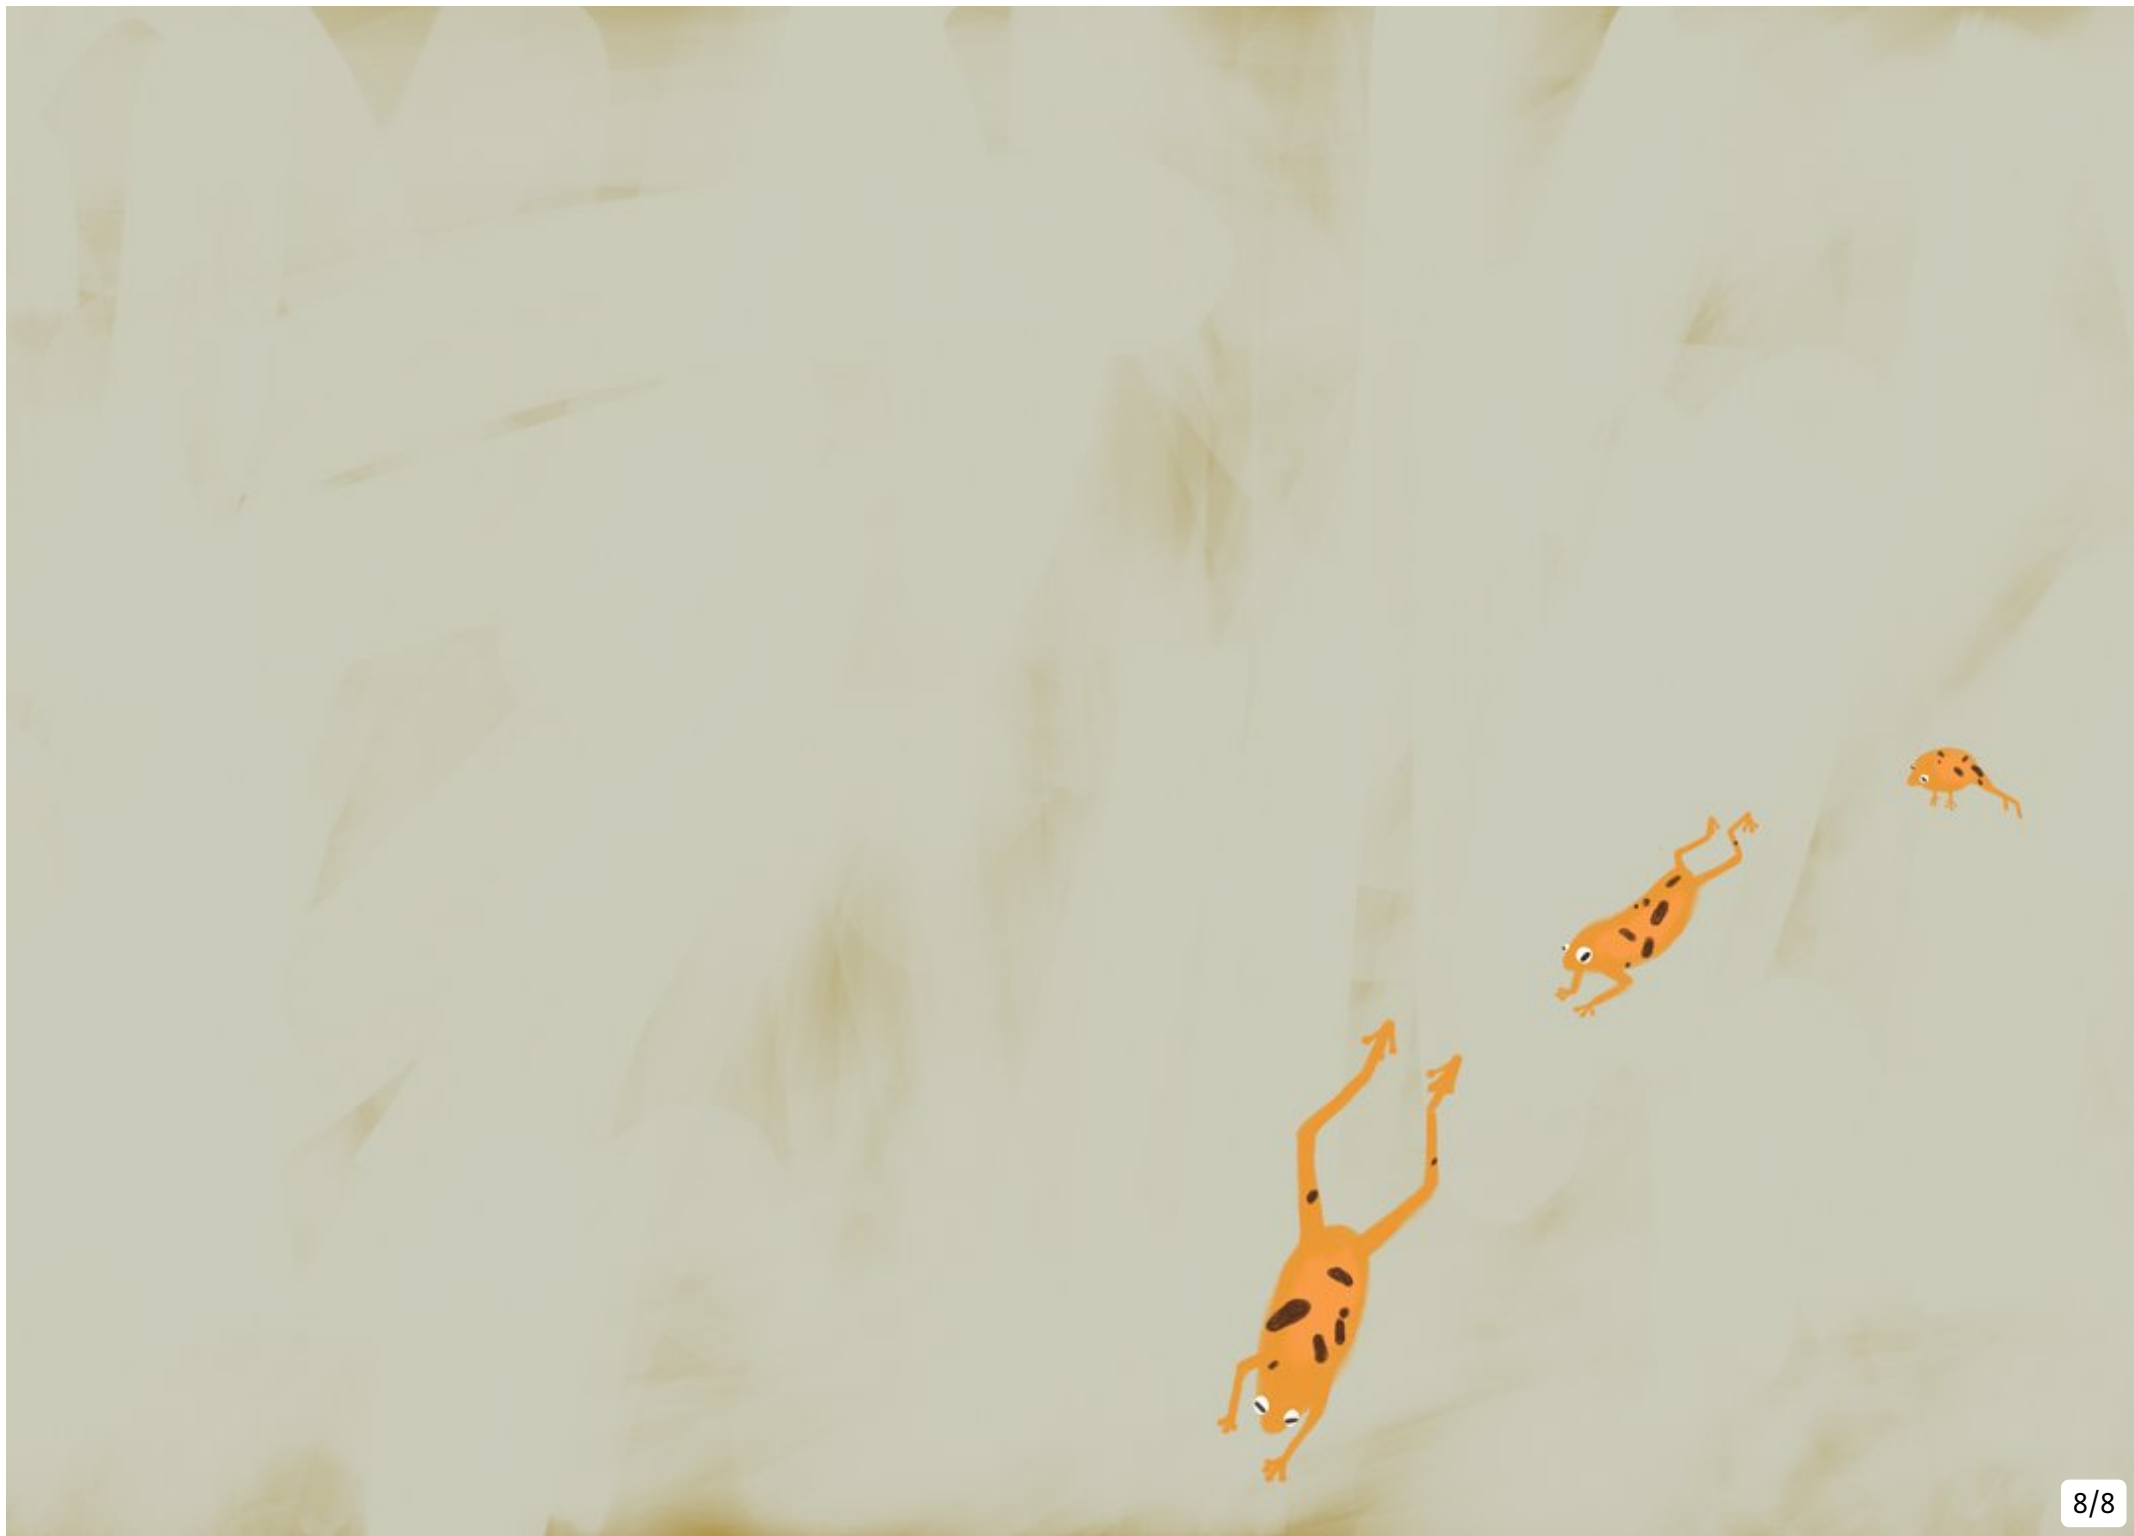

When fungus rules and mould is bold
And the paddy's high, loaded with grain

Then is how I like my rain!
